VOL. III. NO. 309.

CHICAGO, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1897.

PRICE, 5 CENTS

GOSSIP OF THE TURF.

W. O. B. Macdonough will be represented by three Ormonde 2-year-olds in 1898. They are Orsini, br. c, by Ormonde—Jongleuse; Goldenlocks, b. f, by Ormonde—Dizzy Blonde, and Orellanna, b. f, by Ormonde—Marilee. The last named filly is a half sister to the more than useful race horse Don Fulano. If breeding in good lines goes for much, Orsini should atone for the disappointment Orestes proved to Mr. Macdonough, his dam being by Alarm—Presto, by Pretender.

Entries for the $20,000 Matron Stakes and the rich Nursery Handicap, both for 2-year-olds and both to be run over the Morris Park track next autumn, close Tuesday, January 4. Declarations from the Belmont of 1898 are due January 4, and from the Withers, Ladies, Juvenile, Fashion and Eclipse Stakes of 1898, January 5. Declarations from the Belmont, Withers and Ladies Stakes of 1899 also fall due on the latter date.

Record-breaking performances in 1897 were few in number, a suggestion that our best performers were hardly up to the average of recent preceding years. The records at one and one-half and one and three-quarter miles were cut down and that at six furlongs was tied. None of these performances were by Eastern-owned horses. Scoggan's smart filly, Flora Louise, a phenomenon of speed under light weight, tied O'Connell's six furlong record when she traversed the distance in 1:12½ at Harlem, September 30, last. The Western-owned Ben Holladay put a notable performance on record at Morris Park, October 23, when he wiped out Hotspur's long-standing mark for a mile and three-quarters and put the new figures for the distance at 2:59½.

Buckwa won new honors at San Francisco the day before Christmas when he easily cut a half second from the record of 2:32½ for a mile and a half, held jointly by Lamplighter and that sulky old rogue, Evanatus. Of the three performances, Ben Holladay's was in every sense the most valuable, because over a longer distance he carried 118 pounds and ran practically as fast as Buckwa did, when with only 103 pounds in the saddle he broke the mile and a half record.

A turf promoting letter of low tone from New Orleans tells all about the chances of one D. T. Murray being created starter of the proposed American-Canadian racing circuit of 1898. The term "created" is used in the sense of its sharp definition—the making of something out of nothing. The turf needs honesty. Chicago abounds in evidence as to the absence of this native human quality in Murray. Daily Racing Form Publishing Co. will supply the data of proof on call. Then again Murray is incompetent. With many rifles and fireworks, the fellow could not start a revolution in Central America; to say nothing of the result of action about application over a box of matches, a bale of hay and a bonfire.

THE 1898 SPORTING MANUAL.

The 1898 edition of the American Sporting Manual, issued by Daily Racing Form Publishing Co., will be out by or before January 10, 1898. The book will be double the size, in pages, of the 1897 book. Its records will be more complete than those ever printed in a book of the kind. Its turf data will include the records of every race track in America up to January 1, 1898. The general racing record table in the book will be found more than usually comprehensive and can be relied upon for accuracy.

In addition to the turf figures those of pugilism, trotting, pacing, baseball, athletics, sculling, football, billiards, cycling and general sporting events will be found within The American Sporting Manual's pages.

Each set of statistics has been overlooked and discussed by experts. The racing figures are those of DAILY RACING FORM, carefully revised by its editors. George Siler cares for pugilism, Tom Gallagher handles the billiard matter of the book, Ed Sheridan, sporting editor of the Chicago Tribune, has edited the baseball records, and Louis Sass, sporting editor of the Chicago Record, the football and athletic records. The harness racing figures come from the keen hand of John Hervey, the statistician of The Horse Review.

The pugilistic data includes a list of all the fights of 1897 worthy of record. That about baseball spreads the official averages of the National and Western leagues. Three handicapped tables are printed in the book, with articles on their application and the result thereof by the editor of DAILY RACING FORM. The book will be some 200 pages strong and within reinforced paper covers and sell for twenty-five cents. Mail orders to this office will be promptly filled after January 10.
